HEAVY RAINS PUT STATE DETOURS IN POOR CONDITION

In Many Places Roads Are Closed to Traffic Because of Floods

Reports from W. C. Buetow, state highway engineer, to the Good Roads Association of Wisconsin, indicate that rains and storms of the past week have placed many detours in very poor condition and in one or two instances they are impassable. Several detours were removed during the week and no news ones were added. Congestion of traffic west of Milwaukee was relieved somewhat when the first section of the new Blue-ribbon super-highway was opened to traffic. This was necessary due to heavy traffic caused by motors carrying patrons to the state fair.

A detour from Federal Highway 10 west of Stevens Point is under water and in very poor condition. Grading and surfacing of Highway 29 west of Menominee has been completed and the detour there is removed. Federal Highway 53 south of Highway 70 near Spooner has been completed and detours removed. Grading south of Crandon on Highway 55 also has been completed and the road opened.

Some complaints have been received locally about the condition of the Brick yard rd, west of Appleton, which goes past the old county workhouse and furnishes a short cut to Oshkosh. This stretch of highway, which is located in Winnebago-co., is in deplorable condition and people living there are forced to detour several miles out of the way in order to reach Appleton.

Outagamie-co highway department has been repeatedly asked to do something about this road by people who believe the road is in this condition.

NO CELEBRATION IN APPLETON ON LABOR HOLIDAY

Workingmen Expect to Attend Program at Near by Cities

While there will be no official celebration next Monday in Appleton in honor of Labor day workmen of this city probably will travel to cities near Appleton where appropriate services are being held.

A survey shows that Labor day is being officially observed in New London, Clintonville and Kaukauna. Each of these three places are offering programs which include good speakers, street parades, band concerts and many other attractions. It is expected that hundreds of Appleton laborers and their families will travel to these cities to observe the day.

The only celebration in Appleton will be a picnic staged by the Masonic lodge to which members and their friends and families are invited. It will be held at Pierce park but is not a public affair.

Labor Day, history reveals, was originally conceived as an American holiday dedicated to the cause of the workingman in Boston but to Matthew Maguire, secretary of the Central Labor union of New York city belongs the credit for first actually putting the idea into execution.

In 1882 he corresponded with the various other labor organizations in the state about the matter and finally the first Monday in September was designated as Labor's holiday. In 1882 and again in 1884 the Knight of Labor paraded in New York.

Workingmen of all organizations soon began agitation to have the day made a legal holiday and on March 15, 1887 the first law to that effect was passed in Colorado. Other states soon took similar action until every state and territory in the union, except three, have declared the day a legal holiday.

SCHNEIDER TALKS AT MARINETTE MONDAY

Congressman George J. Schneider will deliver the Labor day address at Marinette. He will speak on the abuse of injunctions in labor disputes. Warner Schumaker, secretary of the Central Labor Union of Marinette, is in charge of the day's activities.

Northern Counties Are Popular With Tourists

BY B. A. CLAFLIN
Wisconsin has justly been called the "Playground of the Middle West." The widespread publicity and advertising given our northern counties has resulted in an annual migration of tourists that compares favorably with that enjoyed by California. We have the natural resources of the big outdoors and the thousands of visitors are willing year after year to pay the price incidental to a trip to our wonderful north country.

We have not the wild mountain scenery of the big west but we have a network of lakes and streams that, like the Killarney of Ireland, form a network of lakes and streams that, a panorama of diversified beauty unsurpassed anywhere in the United States. The fishing afforded by these waterways is easily the chief reason, however, for the major portion of our visitors season after season. That being the case every effort should be made to preserve this great drawing card, and the only way it can be preserved is by stocking the waters sufficiently each year to maintain a supply equal to the demand.

It is a big task but it is absolutely necessary. No merchant could hope to continue in business by constant selling with no replenishment of stock. Minnesota and Michigan are doing it and they have not the natural resources that Wisconsin is blessed with. The state has made great strides along this line in the past few years with its inland water hatcheries, but not enough is being done. Too slight a realization of what our fishing means prevails and a natural apathy so characteristic of the American people exists on the part of those not directly interested in our valuable tourist trade.

Lack of faith in the cooperation of our state department has caused some of our more spirited men to go ahead with propagation enterprises in order to promote the supply of game.

672 APPLETONIANS ARE EMPLOYED IN TRANSPORTING WORK

Survey Shows Business Has Had Large Percentage of Increase

Transportation, from the point of view of the number of persons employed, has shown a larger percentage of growth since the 1920 census than any other industry, according to a recent census. This is accounted for by the great strides in commercial motor services for passengers and freight, says that report. The total number engaged in transportation in the United States is estimated at 3,492,390.

Appleton has 1,383 persons employed in trade, and 672 in transportation. Comparing the number of persons employed in transportation and trade, Green Bay has the highest percentage of any city in the state with the exception of Superior. It is estimated that while Green Bay has 2,520 in trade it has 2,231 in transportation. Superior has, according to this estimate, 2,311 in trade and 4,267 in transportation.

Sportsmen Turn To Bass As Trout Season Closes

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

Now that the trout season is over for this year, many ardent anglers are turning their attention to waters from which they can take bass, pike and other game fish. It is, too, a well known fact among fishermen that the advent of fall weather fishing as a rule, grows better. The water becomes colder and the fish gamier. Also, their flesh is of a better flavor during the fall months. How such a sudden change in the nature of their flesh can be possible we are at loss to know, but such is the case nevertheless.

During a somewhat lengthy trip made late last fall, I came upon many excellent waters wherein the fishing was unusually good. Over in Polk county, within ten miles of the Delta of the St. Croix lies the little county seat, known as Balsam lake. Its population of not over two hundred souls will drop their work at any time to tell the traveler what they know, and what they do not know, about the fishing to be had in that region.

From experience gained from a long period of following the open trail, we took the advice so freely extended us, with a grain of salt. We were "from Missouri" and must be shown. We were shown, too. At the little hotel we were regaled with some very alluring tales of fish to be taken in any of the four principal lakes, namely: Balsam, Goose, Halfmoon and Bone.

We were told of monster Northern Pike and gamy bass that would hit anything you might offer in the way of a lure. One old gentleman appealed particularly to us for the reason, principally that he did not offer his advice unsolicited. We had to extract it piece by piece from him. Upon his straightforward description of the lake formations and other matters, we decided that his advice could be relied upon and we governed ourselves accordingly. He suggested that if we desired some very good surface bass fishing, we try Bone Lake. Then, if we would try our hands on the festive pike, we ought to go to Halfmoon.

Accordingly, early the next morning we lost no time in getting to Bone lake, which lay about eight miles distant from the town. We found an old boat there, and after pitching our tent and making things comfortable, we went out to look the lake over. Along the shore lay hundreds of merged logs, and other signs of a long and successful fishing season. We took several with us, and they were good. However, toward night we got a fly rod and proceeded to show the what we had in files. The result was a dozen of the gamy bronze-backed that weighed up to three and a half pounds.

The second day thereafter we broke camp and decided to see what Halfmoon lake had to offer. We were not disappointed. We landed several good pike, in fact, more than we could possibly use, and reconsigned them to the water. The sport of landing them was all we wanted.

This is an excellent region for camping and fishing. You will not be disappointed in a trip there. While there, you also can fish the Apple as well as the St. Croix river for bass, and most every angler knows the reputation of the St. Croix for bass.

LATEST NEWS OF THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

NEW BUICK CAR HAS GREATER HORSEPOWER

Model Has More Power Without Increase of Fuel Consumption

Increase in horsepower without a consequent increase in fuel consumption—

That was the problem Buick Motor Company engineers faced in development of the Silver Anniversary Buick, which has proved a sensation since its initial presentation.

How well this problem was solved already has been demonstrated to the thousands who purchased the luxurious new cars in the first few days after their announcement. For Buick's almost one-fifth more powerful than heretofore and the entire chassis has undergone commensurate enlargement.

This power increase, according to E. A. DeWaters, chief engineer, has been accomplished through an 11 per cent increase in the piston displacement of the larger engine and an increase of 12 per cent in the smaller. But changes in the carburetor and manifold system, redesigning of the camshaft and provision of a new muffler, in which back pressure is reduced to a minimum, have kept the fuel consumption virtually unchanged, DeWaters pointed out.

Marked improvement in the automatic heat control unit built into the fuel intake system was cited by the engineering chief.

"This device, which is exclusively Buick's, is responsible for the quick start in the coldest weather," DeWaters declared.

"The butterfly valve which controls the flow of heat from the exhaust manifold toward the carburetor and intake now is made of a special heat resisting metal, and its shaft is of a larger diameter to prevent bending at extreme heat under the pull of its spring.

To insure adequate fuel supply at the higher speeds for which the new engine is designed, two high speed jets are built into the carburetor instead of one. The vacuum tank has been eliminated, and the mechanical fuel pump, with which Buick has been experimenting successfully for many months, has been substituted. This feature completely does away forever with fuel failure under heavy engine loads such as prolonged high speed or steep grades sometimes impose.

"Thus, through these various new features, the horsepower in the smaller wheelbase models has been increased from 63 to 74, and in the longer cars from 78 to 91, at the same time retaining the economy of operation for which Buick long has been noted."

GASOLINE TANK IN NEW FORD IS SAFER

Much Less Liable to Damage in Collision Than Tanks on Other Cars

The location of the Ford gasoline tank is much safer. It is far less liable to damage from collision than any tank located in the rear of the car. As to safety, the Underwriters Laboratory is surely the best judge, and it is evident that they consider the Ford location very safe, as the fire insurance rates on Ford cars were reduced when the position of the gasoline tank was changed from under the seat to its present location in the cowl dash. The Ford tank is unique in that it is virtually one-piece of steel, electrically welded at the seam, this seam being the strongest part of the tank. In a test made at the Ford Airport, one of the new Ford gasoline tanks was dropped from top of a high building without damage to the seams, which remained intact. The tank, though crushed still does not leak a drop.

Among the advantages of the Ford gasoline tank location are: its simplicity, ability to supply ample fuel to the carburetor on long grades, freedom from leaks and frozen pipes, and freedom from possible failure in a fuel feed system that few mechanics understand.

The location of the Ford gasoline tank filler opening is a distinct advantage, as the Ford driver can see that he is getting full measure. While any gasoline spilled on the hood will not damage the proximal finish of the Ford. A fine mesh circular sieve in the filler opening, prevents danger of fire from any open flame nearby.

SPEND MILLION FOR MORE COLOR VARIETY

Hudson and Essex Models Will Be Brighter Than Ever

A million dollars for greater color variety. Discussion of the great importance of color in motor cars has been ample and plentiful; but the Hudson Motor Car Company has gone further in the investment of $1,000,000 on that color scheme, may be more attractive, and yet produced standard production so that prices need not be advanced.

Hudson and Essex cars in attractive new color schemes are now coming from the plant and are available for immediate delivery, according to Appleton-Hudson Co. distributors in this territory. Then why?

The new color scheme is a complete new departure, bringing the firm into the splash process and giving the new cars a new, distinguished look. The general color scheme of the cars, instead of being faded in the black exterior which has been the traditional color of the company, is a bright, clean, and fresh.

CHEVROLET EQUIPPED WITH AIR CLEANER

Reduces Wear on Parts to 17 Times Less Than on Cars Not Similarly Outfitted

Do you know that the air cleaner on automobiles removes the dust from the air making it purer than that which you yourself breathe? For instance the air cleaner on a Chevrolet reduces the wear on certain moving parts to 17 times less than on cars not equipped with an air cleaner.

Were it not for the air cleaner dust would enter the engine, form on the cylinder walls and soon become thoroughly mixed with the lubricating oil. Without an air cleaner the inevitable result would be formation of a grinding compound which, besides attacking the pistons, rings and cylinder walls, would be driven remorselessly into the bearings and other working parts.

Quite often the dust on a good road cannot be seen, but it is there just the same. Motor car wheels constantly grind off fine particles of road material which are dispersed through the air. These particles viewed under a microscope bear a striking resemblance to a valve grinding compound.

If it were not for the air cleaner, dust and sand would enter the carburetor—even in city driving—causing wear on cylinders, rings and pistons.

Analysis of almost any carbon deposit taken from the average engine not air cleaner equipped shows that it contains a considerable amount of hard foreign matter that must have been drawn in through the carburetor. This causes damage throughout the engine, lowering its performance, shortening its life and causing unnecessary repair costs.

The Chevrolet air cleaner is made entirely of metal—has no moving parts—requires no attention. It will last for the lifetime of the car.

CAR OWNERS WANT TIRES PAINTED

Believe Action Enhances Appearance of Entire Machine

"After the bath, a manicure," appears as the slogan of automobile owners who this year have been painting their tires after the car has been washed, to an unprecedented extent in comparison with the past. Demand of car owners for tire painting has induced many auto laundry stations to install tire painting departments where tires are regularly painted when the car is washed, according to Miller tire men. Just as the well groomed man requires manicuring to put the finishing touches to his appearance, so does the driver of fine cars demand the final touch to tires, generally the most neglected part of an automobile.

Tire painting is especially necessary for the spare tire, as it not only gives a glossy black appearance in keeping with the finish on the rest of the car, but the protective covering of paint keeps dust and moisture away from the tire. Painting a tire is a very simple operation which can be accomplished in a few minutes. It does quickly and will not rub off, as the paint is a permanent preparation which has been used for this purpose.

Miller describes the process of tire painting as a most of the time for more beautiful cars, and the desire to keep extra part with the same looking appearance. It had been the practice from the manufacturers' standpoint to paint the tires of new cars in the factory. In the case of a used car, the tire is painted when it is first sold. The Miller tire men, however, have been painting tires for many years, and they are now painting tires for the same reason. DODGE BROTHERS SPEED PRODUCTION

August Schedules Jump in Face of Heavy Demands for Motors

Production schedules of passenger cars and trucks by Dodge Brothers are set at approximately 27,000 for August in an effort to fill the unusually large number of orders on hand, according to latest factory figures. The unprecedented seasonal demand for cars and trucks is reported general from every section of the country.

"Our passenger car business is exceptionally heavy," said John R. Lee, general sales manager, in discussing the present activity at the factory, "while the Graham Brothers truck division is operating on an overtime basis to catch up with the sales demands experienced since the new line of six cylinder trucks and commercial cars was introduced. The average daily truck production for August will be more than 300 units."

Continued optimistic trade conditions for the rest of the year were pictured before the district representative and field men of the passenger car and truck divisions of a special meeting at the factory called by Mr. Lee to introduce joint officials of the Chrysler and Dodge Brothers Corporations.

Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler Corporation and Dodge Brothers Corporation, J. E. Fields, vice-president in charge of sales of all divisions, K. T. Keller, vice-president and general manager of Dodge Brothers, Fred M. Zeder, vice-president in charge of engineering of all divisions, and E. E. Hutchinson, vice-president and treasurer of all divisions, outlined the tremendous possibilities of the future.

Repeated assurances were given that sales and service organizations as well as the individual products of the companies would remain separate. No radical changes in the operation or personnel of the organization of Dodge Brothers were contemplated. It was definitely stated.

Following the joint meeting, the various representatives and field men met with their immediate department heads to outline detailed sales and service plans for the rest of 1928. Figures for the first seven months of this year show that Dodge Brothers shipments of motor cars and trucks from the plants in the United States and Canada were 14.5 per cent above the corresponding period last year, while July shipments showed a gain of 28.7 per cent over July a year ago.

FRANCE IS PROSPEROUS AND HAS JOBS FOR ALL

Paris —(AP)—Less than 1,000 persons are receiving unemployment benefits in all of France, according to the latest government statistics. This figure, in a sharp contrast with England where 1,000,000 persons require government aid, is being looked for further reduction. The economic conditions in France are being looked for further reduction. The economic conditions in France are being looked for further reduction.

OAKLAND DEALERS IN NATIONAL MEETS

Expect to Promote Greatest Sales Campaign in History of Firm

In preparation for what will probably be the greatest selling year in Oakland history, a nationwide series of dealer meetings is being conducted this week by the Oakland Motor Car Company.

Under the direction of district managers and field staffs, meetings are being staged at 125 focal points in all quarters of the country for the 5,000 men who make up the Oakland demonstration dealer organization.

Dramatic methods are employed to put across the company message. Stage properties, special lighting effects, draperies, lantern slides and other theatrical equipment are employed to bring vividly to the audience the newest plans and latest developments in automotive merchandising.

The Oakland sales year began on August 1, when all field heads were summoned to the factory to meet with W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales, for the outline of company methods to be carried out during the current selling year.

Stressed in the dealer meetings are the extraordinary Oakland and Pontiac records established during the selling year just ended; used car merchandising plans; replacement market, service promotion; enlarged advertising campaign; and special emphasis on the exceptional selling opportunities offered by the improved Pontiac Six, as well as a complete presentation of plans for the Oakland All-American Six line during the coming months.

Five or more dealer meetings are being held in every one of the 24 districts into which the country has been divided. Each district manager, assisted by his district office staff, has charge of the meetings in his territory.

CHANDLER MAKES NEW MODEL AUTO

Surprise by Introducing Eight Cylinder Machine

Following on the heels of its recent announcement of the new '65' series Six, listing at $895, Chandler now surprises a surprise by announcing a new low priced eight cylinder line, providing a price range from $1295 to $1495. This latest eight cylinder series is entirely new and apart from the already popular Chandler Royal '85' Eight line.

This new Eight will be known to the public as the Royal '75' and includes four body styles; a five passenger Brougham at $1295, five passenger sedan at $1385, a DeLuxe Sedan at $1455 and a four passenger, rumble seat coupe listing at $1295, all on a 115 inch wheelbase chassis.

LOWEST PRICED CHANDLER EIGHT

At the remarkable low prices which prevail with this new series, Chandler officials feel that these new Eights will receive as hearty endorsement on the part of the public as is being accorded the new '65' series Six, and just a few weeks ago.

BROUGHAM WILL BE POPULAR A model in this new series which is destined to enjoy unusual popularity, is the fashionable five passenger Brougham. It embodies the new beauty which distinguishes all new Chandlers, and is emphasized by long, low body contours, new radiator and insignia. The doors are broad and open wide. Finished in sparkling two-tone colors, this model speaks for itself in its price class.

All exterior metal parts that are ordinarily nickel-plated with the Royal '75' series, thus insuring a more beautiful finish, and at the same time eliminating any possibility of discoloration. Chandler has adopted this finish with every car it now builds.

"Chandler has gone to great lengths in its desire to make the Royal '75' an outstanding Eight in its price class, not only in beauty but also in performance," claims Mr. L. D. Kurz, local Chandler distributor.

"For months and months, Chandler engineers have been punishing the Royal '75' by putting it to unheard of tests, over all kinds of hills and over every conceivable kind of road surface. It has, further," states Mr. Kurz, "proven itself, in every way, a worthy addition to the Chandler line."

A POWERFUL NEW MOTOR

The power plant is a straight Eight type with a bore of 2 1/2" and a stroke of 4 1/2". It has a piston displacement of 254.47 cubic inches. It embodies the characteristic Pikes Peak power principle, for which Chandler is already well known, and has a speed range up to 75 miles an hour.

WESTINGHOUSE VACUUM BRAKES

In this new series Chandler provides Westinghouse vacuum brakes as standard equipment. This type of brake only requires one-third the pressure required to operate the average brake, yet the braking effort on all four wheels is three times greater than the ordinary brake. Due to this Chandler officials claim greater ease of operation, and a wider margin of safety.

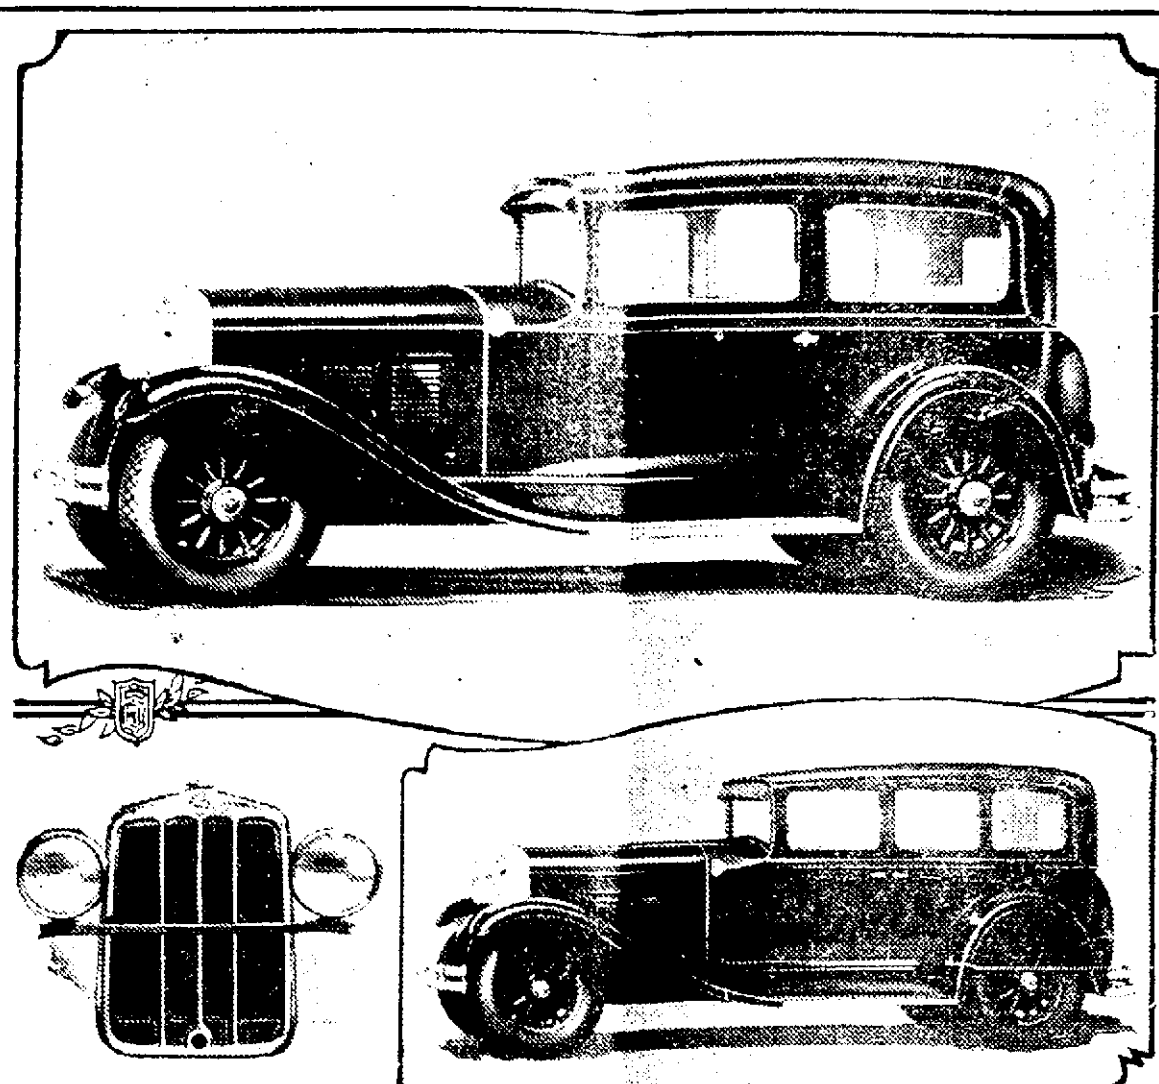

Standard equipment with all models includes an automatic windshield cleaner, twin beam head lights, light control from the steering wheel and electric fan, electric combination tail and stop light, bumpers, bumperettes, and Lovejoy shock absorbers can be secured at a low combination price for this equipment. Six wire wheels, two mounted on the sides, with trunk rack and trunk included, are provided with any model, as special equipment at extra cost.

This new Royal '75' is now on exhibition at the salesroom of Kurz Motor Co., local Chandler distributors.

Misses Katherine and Agnes Tracy returned Thursday from a three months trip to Europe, and Ireland, and England, where they visited relatives. They were accompanied by Miss Katherine O'Brien of Ashland. The trip to Europe was made by way of Montreal, Canada, and the return trip by way of New York.

PACKARD HAS SPECIAL LINE-PAINTER

Proving that beauty in the automobile industry is not confined to automobiles. This special line painter has stripes on Packard cars with a most novel new device.

called one of the most important inventions in the automobile industry in recent years, a device developed by the Packard Motor Car Company is one of the most simple, it takes into consideration, in size however, when compared with giant machines, sometimes weighing hundreds of tons, with which the automobile industry is continually reducing costs, increasing production and bettering quality.

"The little machine is used to paint the stripes on automobile bodies. This was one job on a motor car which, if it was considered, never could be done by machinery. In the Packard plant alone two girls armed with the device have taken the place of ten men and the finished work is asserted to be a big improvement over the results obtained through the old hand methods.

The stripe itself is most perfect and will, it is believed, far outlast that put on by hand brushes, as it is laid on much thicker and more evenly. Only one application is needed also, while, by the hand method, two coats were required for even the thinnest stripe.

Small as the mechanical paint stripper is, Packard has been at work on it for nearly three years before it finally was perfected. It consists of a small reservoir to hold the liquid, hardly larger than a fountain pen. In many respects, say those who have seen the device used, it resembles a fountain pen. The liquid is drawn from the reservoir by a small gear pump at the bottom. Gears which for this pump are only a third of an inch thick. A speed arrangement which travels along a sliding of the gears drives the gear of the pump and, at the same time, acts as one of the guides for laying on the stripe.

Lacquers are fed by the revolving gears, meshing with the others, through a small nozzle which travels upon the surface of which the stripe is to be painted as the device is moved along. By reason of the gear pump an even flow of lacquer from the nozzle is maintained whether the stripe is moved slowly or rapidly.

and, these phenomena already have been noted.

The device is offered in varied body styles, represents advanced engineering design that stamps the car with an individual appearance characteristic of no other car. The body lines are designed specifically to meet the latest American viewpoint on automotive design—a demand for color, beauty and the last word in fashion.

Interior appointments of the car carry out additional features of its architecture and decoration. Finishing of the upholstery is harmonized with the exterior and each work in most unique manner.

The car will be powered with an engine designed and built especially for the Senior Six, and is said to have an unparalleled performance standard. The car is said to couple luxury and economy with dependability for which the company has gained a worldwide reputation.

DODGE BROTHERS TO ANNOUNCE NEW MODEL

Detroit, Mich. — Announcement of New Senior Six models by Dodge Brothers is expected to be made within a few days, according to reports in local automotive trade circles. Factory production is being pushed on overtime schedules to supply dealers over the country as rapidly as possible, it is expected.

"LOVE FOR TWO"

by Ruth Dewey Groves
1928 By N. E. A. Service, Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BERTIE LOU WARD, on the eve of her wedding to ROD BRYER, feels a premonition of trouble when she receives a dagger like paper knife from LILA MARSH, who has turned Rod down because he is not wealthy. But she courageously resolves not to be jealous of Rod's past love affair since his future is in her keeping.

Bertie Lou receives a second blow to her pride when she accidentally overhears one bridesmaid ask another if she thinks the bride likes being second choice. The pain in her heart lingers until Rod whispers "My wife" with a world of adoration in his eyes.

They spend an ideal honeymoon in a mountain resort, and Bertie Lou almost forgets the shadow cast by the predatory ex-sweet-heart until they return and find Lila acting as dictator in their apartment on the ground that she knows what Rod likes. Both the bride and her mother resent Lila's efforts to annoy and MRS. WARD advises Bertie Lou to try to avoid meeting her in the future.

Entertainment and the demands of hospitality cripple their budget and the newlyweds decide they will have to retreat. Then they are invited to the hotel to dine with the FRASERS, from New York, and Bertie Lou is delighted when TOM FRASER offers Rod a position in the city.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII
Rod looked helplessly over at Bertie Lou. Her eyes were filled with an eagerness he could not mistake. Still, he hardly knew what to say. The proposition had been shot at him with disconcerting suddenness, and life didn't move that way in Waville. He supposed Tom had acquired the manner in New York.

"You sure are speedy in the big city aren't you?" he said, seeking time. Then it occurred to him that he'd have to talk the matter over with Bertie Lou in private before he gave Tom an answer.

"That's how we get there," Tom snapped back at him. "Suppose we go up to our rooms after dinner and I'll tell you what's on my mind while the girls and Stiles have a game of bridge."

"That suited Molly, that is with certain modifications. She decided to show Bertie Lou and Lila her French underwear instead of muddling through with the rules on 'normal expectancy' and 'quick tricks.' The men could have the sitting room."

The dinner was finished in an air of subdued excitement. Bertie Lou could hardly sit still in her chair. But Rod, she knew, was undecided. She could see doubt in his face. She felt a little like shaking him. Couldn't he see what a wonderful opportunity Tom was offering him?

Lila sat in silence. The food tasted of ashes. She'd never been quite so sorry before that she'd turned Rod down.

New York! Her father flatly refused to support her if she went to the city. And Lila performed not to toil. But some day she'd meet a man . . . a traveling salesman probably, who would take her away to the land of skyscrapers. It was a little galling though to have the one man she'd least expected to make the grade getting there ahead of her, and taking another girl with him.

But then on second thought, what would Rod amount to in New York? Tom couldn't have so much to offer him. Lila perked up. Let him go. And she'd come along later with her moneybags, who ever he might be, and show them she hadn't let at the post.

She was unusually gay the rest of the evening. Which puzzled Bertie Lou, who was not accustomed to exaggerated flights of fancy.

Molly spread out her finery on the bed, and while her guests exclaimed over it and admired her taste until she was perfectly satisfied Tom went into the details of his offer to Rod. Mr. Stiles had excused himself.

The salary was, of course, better than he was receiving at present.

him with a touch as light as thistle down.

"Wouldn't it be great to live near the water? Tank swimming makes me sick. And we could get an apartment in a tall building, a nice cool one. Molly says rent is high in New York but with the salary Tom offered you we wouldn't be paying any more than we are here. It takes a fifth of what you make for this place. And for fifth of $65 a week we ought to get a swell apartment in New York."

And so it went, far into the night. In weariness Rod gave it up. After all, it wasn't a bad proposition. A lot of fellows he knew would be tickled to death to get it.

Wayville gave them a great send-off. Everybody they knew came in to say goodbye to them and turned the occasion into an excuse for a party. Rod began to feel important. And Bertie Lou was the envy of all the girls.

They stored their furniture in Bertie Lou's old home and left money to pay for having it packed when the time came to send it to them. "We'll find a place in a day or so," Bertie Lou told her mother.

Rod was over at his mother's having a long talk with her. She was opposed to his going away and Rod knew she blamed Bertie Lou for his decision. He was trying to talk her out of that.

"Aw, Ma, I'd be a fool to let this chance go by. Look at Tom, Wayville's proud of him. It won't be long before I'll be coming back home on a visit and having a brass band meet me at the depot."

"I don't know, son. I don't know, his mother said weakly. She had not been well all summer and was much less fleshy now than she had been when Bertie Lou had a treacherous tear on her bosom the day she was married.

Rod's heart ached at parting from her. "Seems to me you were pretty well fixed with Meeker and Son. You had a nice home, even if it was only a rented flat. And you could have come here to live if you'd have wanted to," she added.

Rod did not tell her that living with relatives was one of the things Bertie Lou had said firmly she would not do. "The flat was all right," he said. "A fellow ought to have a home of his own, though. We'll build in New York. I hope Tom's paying me well. We'll be able to save a lot of money in no time on $65 a week."

"It sounds like an awful big salary, son. But you and Bertie Lou aren't the saving kind. I'm afraid she spent more than she should on parties and such like. I tried to tell her once."

"I know," Rod broke in. "But she couldn't help it. Ma, that's one reason we'll be better off out of Waville. We know half the people in this burg. We thought we could settle down and live our lives as we chose, but we found that our bunch still expected us to be among those present when anything was doing. Bertie Lou's been working too hard too cooking and keeping house. I'll be good for her to cut out the entertaining."

Well, you haven't been married very long. All that might have been changed. But Bertie Lou had her heart set on going to the city, I guess.

Rod looked at his watch. "Time to go over and get her. All right to take the car?"

He found Bertie Lou ready to come back with him and say goodbye to his parents. Then they returned to the Wards for their suit cases before going to the station.

Labor Day of 1928 comes with a new challenge to action. We have made progress, and that progress opens up opportunities that demand resourcefulness and perseverance. Let us meet the challenges with courage and that determined endurance necessary for achievement.

CONTRACT BRIDGE We continue today our Friday Saturday series of Auction and Contract Bridge Hands.

Hand diagram showing North and South hands with cards and tricks.

CONTRACT BRIDGE South one No Trump, West pass, North two No Trumps, East pass, South three No Trumps. The Dealer, with a count of 15, is two points short of the strength that justifies a bid of two No Trumps. North, with a count of 9, has exactly the strength for jumping one No Trump to two; and halfter the jump South, having a count of 15, is strong enough to go to three. With less than 15, South should pass North's jump of one.

THE PLAY West leads the Four of Spades, Dummy plays the Ten, East the Seven and South the Queen. The Queen is played instead of the Ten so as to return a Spade win in Dummy and keep command of the suit. If South, taking the Ten, led the Queen, and West did not cover, the lead would stay in South's hand or West's King would be made good.

After taking with the Queen, South can count three Spade tricks, one Heart and one Diamond. Dummy's Queen of Diamonds could be made up if West held the King, but that would add only one more trick to the five named above, and Declarer would need three Club tricks, which would mean a Club finesse; and there would be the danger that one of the red suits would be established against the Declarer before he could try his Club finesse.

Declarer therefore leads the Ten of Spades to trick 2 and plays the Jack from Dummy if West plays small. Then he leads the Queen of Clubs from Dummy and plays the Jack under the Queen unless East plays the King. If the Queen wins, he leads the Ten of Clubs and, the King not covering, plays the Nine under the Ten; next

HOT ELECTION? EVEN THE KIDS ARE INTERESTED

Count house employees were startled Friday morning when the sound of drums beat broke the silence of the grounds. Thoughts of the old poem about Barbara Fitchie and the words "up the street came the sound of drums," passed through the minds of many.

A hurried rush to windows, however, revealed that five youngsters in the neighborhood were having a parade. All were dressed in white trousers and blue blouses and wore blue sashes fastened after those of Napoleon's day while one rode a tricycle gaily decorated. The leader was thumping the drum.

As a parade it might have been a common sight, but this was a political parade. In the back of one youngster was a card advising whoever read it that he should vote for a certain man for district attorney. On his chest was another card bearing the name of a candidate for nomination as sheriff. The youngsters may not be able to

Books Of The Week

By W. E. McPHEETERS

Professor of English, Lawrence College

New Story By Thompson Is Good One

THE BATTLE OF THE HORIZONS, by Sylvia Thompson. Little, Brown and Company.

Sylvia Thompson created quite a furore by her first novel, "The Hounds of Spring." Her second novel "The Battle of the Horizons," though equally ambitious is not so successful. It is, however, a very interesting story.

Miss Thompson, who is English, has attempted to picture the results of an international marriage. Athens Reid, a wealthy American girl, marries Geoffrey Graham, a young English economist. They return to England to live. The story is concerned principally with Athens's effort to adjust herself to English life.

The principal fault with Athens is that she is unreal. No American girl at least now can think of going to run away from a perfectly good husband like Geoffrey even though he did not appreciate her "ideals," to be the lover of a colorless, cynical writer like Denis Mortlake.

The story, however, is very readable because of dramatic situations, scintillating dialogue, and the intimate picture of English life which it presents.

MUNICIPAL UTILITY REGULATED BY BOARD

Madison — (AP) — A municipality which engages in the operation of a public utility in another municipality accepts an indeterminate permit, and is subject to all the regulations imposed by law upon privately owned utility companies.

So the railroad commission has declared in overruling objections of the village of Eagle River to that body's determining the amount to be paid by the Town of Minocqua to the Village of Eagle River for an election utility.

Eagle river is selling to Minocqua a plant located in the Town of Minocqua, but which belongs to the village of Eagle River.

It objected to the railroad commission determining how much should be paid for it.

Englishman Scores Again With Legion

BEAU IDEAL, by Percival Christopher Wren. Frederick A. Stokes Company.

Major Wren is a veteran of three armies: The Cavalry Corps of the British Army, the Indian Army in East Africa, and the French Foreign Legion, in all of which he gets active service.

"Beau Ideal," completes his trilogy of stories about the French Foreign Legion begun in "Beau Geste" and "Beau Sabreur." Readers who have been thrilled by the other two novels of the series will not be disappointed in "Beau Ideal" for in it whites and Arabs meet again in bloody conflict on the same sands of the North African desert.

"Beau Ideal" brings to a conclusion all the events which were set in motion in the previous stories. It also conducts to a happy consummation the affairs of the characters whom we left at the conclusion of "Beau Sabreur."

Otis Vanbrugh, brother of Mary, is the hero of this last novel. But in it De Beaujolais, John Geste Hank and Buddy all have major parts. A new character, a young desert woman of great beauty called—with cause—the "Angel of Death" adds mystery and horror to the tale.

STAGE And SCREEN

FINE FIGHT FILM

Proving itself one of the finest pictures of the year, Vera Reynolds' latest Pathe-De Mille star feature, "The Main Event," is the feature attraction at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday. That the photoplay should score is not surprising, for it is beyond question thrilling, dramatic, novel, beautiful and appealing to a degree.

Miss Reynolds does the best work of her screen career in this entertaining picture as a dancing girl who loves "Red Lucas," a prize fighter. She lends herself to a scheme to aid her sweetheart who, by the way, is double-crossing her, to render Johnnie Regan, his ring rival, hors de combat by dancing with him night after night at the cabaret where she is employed, the result being that seemingly he is physically unable to meet his ring engagement. Then the girl falls in love with her victim and spoils Lucas' rascally game! Thinking the girl he loves has played him false, Johnny have helped relieve the struggle. Good news has come that many new settlers are about to move into the country. The land itself bears like a garden. Hilda Rose, "Daddy," and their boy seem happy and hopeful.

Then she tells what she has to do: "Daddy is more and more feeble, so I have more to do than before; getting food and water is hardest, and I must do the milking too very soon. I planted and raised a good garden, and potatoes, too, dug them and put them in the cellar myself, about one hundred bushels."

Droughts finally making their further stay in Montana impossible, they moved to Alberta, Canada, in July, 1926. The second part of the book tells of the new homestead in that country. They went far north, into the Great Slave Lake Region. Hilda Rose had the spirit of the old pioneer. She loathed the thought of ever living in or near cities again. She longed for the great open spaces. She certainly found them in Alberta. Their nearest neighbor was seven miles away.

Arriving late in the summer and being disappointed in their plans to build a dug-out, they tried to live in a tent. When the thermometer got down to 49 degrees below zero, Hilda Rose admitted, in a letter written then, that the prospects for the winter looked bad.

Fortunately, distant neighbors heard of their plight, rallied, and hurriedly built them a rude but fairly warm shack. Had they not done so, the family would probably have perished, for Mrs. Rose fell during the winter and badly hurt herself, and the boy had pneumonia. "Daddy" was so old and feeble as to be almost helpless in the terrible cold.

The book ends with a hint of happiness. The checks from the Atlantic enters the ring and properly thrashes Lucas and wins the championship. The picture is packed with thrilling scenes. The work of the star and her supporting players, notably Rudolph Schildkraut, Charles Delaney, Robert Armstrong and Julia Faye, is highly commendable. The direction by William K. Howard, the man who made "White Gold" is as nearly faultless as can be, so that by and all "The Main Event" is a production worth traveling far to see.

CAN YOU IMAGINE? Can you imagine the complications that would result when an attractive girl sails from England to America with nothing but a bathing suit for a travelling wardrobe? Such is one of the humorous situations in Colleen Moore's "Oh Kay!" the Elite Theatre's attraction next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, which was filmed by First National Productions from the musical comedy of the same name. Miss Moore enacts the role of an independent young English girl, who leaves England and an annoying suitor while clad in a bathing costume. Lawrence Gray plays opposite Colleen in this decidedly funny comedy, others in the cast being Allen Hale, Ford Sterling, Claude Rains and Julian Johnston.

A BACHELOR HUSBAND "A Bachelor Husband," a red-hot, spicy comedy, with not a dull moment will be presented by the Winninger Players at the Fischer's Theatre this afternoon and tonight. The John D. Winninger Players who have been at the Fischer's theatre all week and played to capacity houses nearly every performance will close their present engagement tomorrow (Sunday) with "The Wasps Nest," the greatest mystery story ever produced. There will be three performances Sunday, a matinee and two evening performances.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

MONDAY'S GAMES
GREEN BAY AT APPLETON.
Nee-Menasha at Little Chute.
Fond du Lac at Kaukauna.

There's an old gag tucked away in some forgotten corner to the effect that a baseball game is never over until the last man's out—and a pennant isn't won until the last game of the season, at least not in the Fox River Valley league.

Sunday and Monday afternoon's will see the curtain rung down on baseball in this section of the state for the final time. The teams which compose the local circuit are going to have their last fling—and that remark goes for Nee-Menasha as well as the league leading Kim-Little Chute nine.

Appleton will have a chance to celebrate and possibly makes the folks gloomy over run up river to the Electric City nine in the field. The aggregation of ball tossers is going to have a chance at the pennant and that Kimberly probably will be dumped by the Bays in the latter city on the Sabbath afternoon.

It will be the usual lineup of Appleton players that takes to the field against the Kaws but that's the reason they may not come to life. A play bang-up baseball for a change. Tomorrow probably will be marked from second base there as an injury received at Fond du Lac last week, but one of the many players around the city will be picked up to fill the gap. The opening battery will be Ritten and Murphy.

As has been stated, the Bays and Kimberly will meet at the Bay and it promises to be a battle royal insofar as the Green Sox are out of the running and would desire to trimming. Marty Lamers, the company. Kotah has been booked to handle the game by President Batz so if fans don't think it's going to be a big affair, at least the price does.

Nee-Menasha, or the gang masquerading under that name will run down to Fond du Lac and indulge in a little experimental baseball. President Batz who is handling the team over there has been in trimming and which he's added to his team and with the pitcher who has considerable success at Green Bay last Sunday and a few others, figures he can win.

A fellow by the name of Freeman who is rated an A-1 catcher will handle the bat for the Paul team and another youngster named Mayhew will cavort at second base. The two are from New York, and working in one of the valley paper mills, and are expected to play the Nee-Menasha team back in victory row.

The pitchers for the Pauls will be Mike Mayefski, Becker and Egan, the latter two lefties and Janski, a pitcher-catcher. The right handed tossers will be used against Fondy and the lefties against Kimberly at Little Chute Monday afternoon.

The Kim-Little Chute game Monday afternoon will be the main event of the day although the fracas in the local back yard when Green Bay comes here should prove a good ball game. It will be the final game of the season, and as the Bays are notorious for letting down the last day there is a possibility that Appleton may win a synthetic victory. Referee probably will be the choice on the mound.

A. A. RACE TIGHTENS

Lelivelt's Brewers Rush Out in Late Innings and Defeat Blues

Chicago (AP)—That wasn't race for The American Association players just won't loosen up.

With only about 20 games left to be played by each club before the season is over, Milwaukee came out first place by a margin of one game over Indianapolis and lost three and a half games in the fifth-place St. Paul club. Milwaukee is in third place, but only one game away from the top and St. Paul is two and a half games from the lead. St. Paul applied the brakes in the struggle Friday by trimming the leading Brewers 7 to 2 in the closing game of their season. The game came on their traditional day of the same time, Jack Doherty, setting the Kansas City Indians, who had been in the western warfare and into undisputed supremacy.

ATHLETICS TRAIL

YANKS BY 2 GAMES AFTER WIN FRIDAY

Cardinals Divide Bill With Pittsburgh but Lead Remains Same

Insidiously the Philadelphia Athletics are cutting into the New York Yankees' American league lead until it has dwindled to next to nothing but apparently it will take more direct methods to dislodge the St. Louis Cardinals from their position at the head of the National league standing.

Defeating the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 2, Friday, the A's advanced to within two games of the idle world's champions, the closest they have been to the summit this year.

On the other hand, the Pittsburgh Pirates, driven on by the indomitable will of Little Don Bush, engaged the Cardinals twice at Forbes Field and got no better than an even break for their pains. Although the Corsairs, still hoping for their second pennant in as many years, remained six and a half games distant from the Cardinals they did advance past the Cincinnati Reds into undisputed possession of fourth place and no further away from the three per centage points.

The Chicago Cubs, along of the five contending clubs, registered a positive gain. Their defeat of the Reds put Joe McCarthy's men within four and a half games of the lead.

The Pirates pounded out an early lead off Grover Alexander in the first game of their double bill with the Cardinals and then withstood the Redbirds' losing rush to win. Ray Kremer was credited with his eighth consecutive victory although he was driven out of the box in the eighth inning when the Cards tallied four runs with the aid of Chick Hafe's twentieth homer of the year.

Burleigh Grimes stepped in to check the Cardinals' surge, behind good pitching by Jess Haines, the Redbirds had little trouble taking the nightcap, 6 to 2. Fred Russell, young Pirate southpaw, was touched for 11 hits, one of time Jim Battonmeyer's twenty-seventh homer.

The Reds got a lot of hits off Artie Nehf and Hal Carlson but could not make them count and the Cubs won, 5 to 3. Red Lucas has hit freely. Dazzy Vance registered his eighth victory as the Pirates gave the Giants their eighth successive setback, 4 to 2. John McGraw batted second baseman Andy Cohen and sent in Andy Reese who accounted for both of the Giants' runs with a home run in the seventh inning.

The Phils and the Boston Braves broke even in a double header, Burt Shotton's crew taking the opener, 4 to 3, but dropping the second, 4 to 1.

The A's victory over the Red Sox was gained only after a bitter pitcher's battle between Rube Walberg, of the tribe of Mack, and Danny MacFayden and Pat Simmons. A two run rally in the seventh settled the issue and allowed the A's to even the series at one victory-all.

The St. Louis Browns took over the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 2, in the only other American league game. Alvin Crowder pitched his sixteenth victory of the year.

YANKS WIN WALKER CUP MATCHES, 11-1

Chick Evans Only American Amateur to Lose in International Play

Chicago (AP)—Further proof of the supremacy of American golfers Saturday was placed in the archives with the records of the overwhelming victory over the British in the Walker cup team matches which ended Friday.

The invaders were able to salvage only one point out of 12, by the only up victory of T. A. Torrance over Chick Evans in eight single matches after the home players had won all four points in the foursomes. This made the result: America 11; Great Britain 1.

Even some of the individual victories were just as sweeping as the aggregate result. Bobby Jones, scoring one under par for 24 holes, another the British Amateur champion by 13 and 12, one hole better than his drubbing of Cyril Tolley two years ago at St. Andrews in a Walker cup meet.

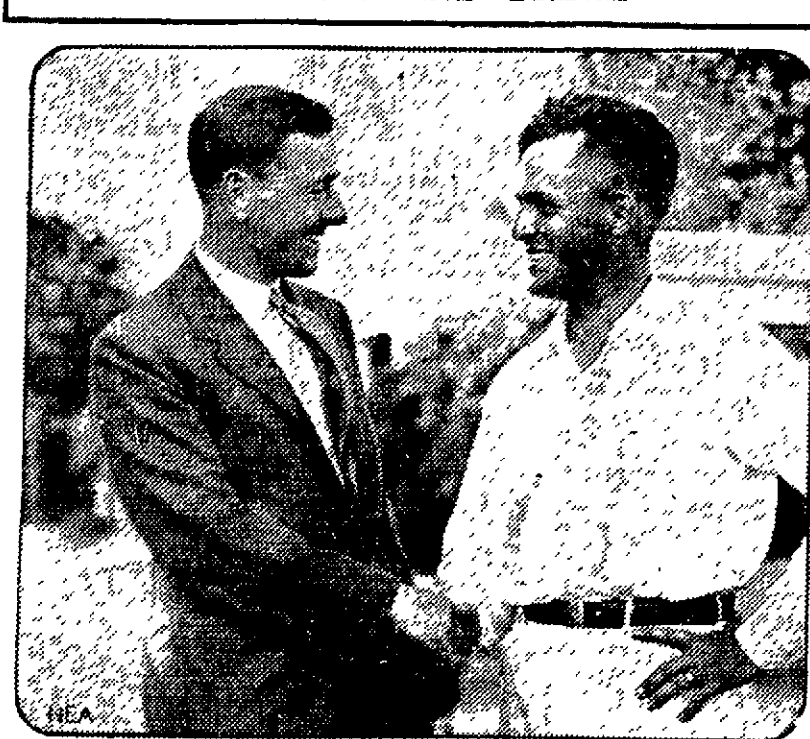

Then came Watts Gunn, who although he did not play closer than 13 strokes of par, found his opponent R. H. Hardman easy and won 11 and 10. And again the feat of Francis Ouimet, who first sprang into fame as a boy by defeating Ted Ray and Harry Vardon for the American open title, in scoring within 3 strokes of par for 29 holes to down the doughty Major C. O. Hazell, 8 and 7, made the American stand out as giants of the links.

The Britons finally got one victory, Chick Evans finding a tartar in Tony Torrance, who got around the links in the morning in 73 and gained a lead of 2 up over the former American amateur and open champion, as he took 75. Torrance eased up to 35 on the third nine, but Chick was wild and took 41 to be 5 down as they entered the last day.

There Evans returned to normalcy, parred 4 of the remaining holes and won 4 of them to place him in the last few down. They halved the final hole.

The sixth Walker cup matches will be held in Great Britain in 1929. There was an informal contest prior to the existence of the cup, and the Americans have won them all but one by such a large margin as the one.

BRITON AND YANK

Here are Bobby Jones, right, and Dr. William Tredwell, captains of the rival Walker Cup teams in the coming international golf match to be played at Chicago. The Britisher is congratulating Bobby on setting a new course record of 67 at Flossmoor, near Chicago, a few days before the international amateur was to be played. Tredwell is a former British amateur champion.

Canadian Sprinter Races Men Not Time

That kid from Canada, as he was referred to when he was working out just before the Olympic games in Amsterdam, has made it easy for those whose annual duty forces them to make a list of the super-athletics of the year.

There may be a dispute that the two players nominated by the baseball writers as the winners of the most valuable prizes were not the most valuable players.

There no doubt will be a difference of opinion as to whether Henri Cochet or Rene Lacoste was the greatest tennis player of 1928, and it will be difficult to rank Farrell, Jones and Hagen in any order that will suit their rooters.

But when the time comes to mention the Olympic hero and the outstanding sprinter of the year there is only one name to consider. Percy Williams, the Canadian high school boy.

Young Williams not only ranks as the popular hero of the Olympic games, the champion sprinter beyond all dispute, but he qualifies as the outstanding athlete of the year on every field.

PACKERS NEED AN END AND FULLBACK

Begin Drills Sept. 9 at City Stadium and Play First Game Sept. 13

Green Bay — Packer football stock climbed several notches this past week with the announcement that "Bullet" Baker and Larry Marks, star halfbacks of the New York Yankees, would perform with the Big Bay Blues this fall. These players came to the Packers via the trade route as Cyre and Rosatti were sent to Pyle's team.

"Lavvie" Dilweg, rated as the greatest pro end in the country also came to terms with the Packer management as did "Whit" Woodin, a veteran guard, who has played with the Bays for a number of years.

Negotiations for another end, line-man and fullback are still under way and Capt. Lambeau expects to have three more star players under contract before it is time for the team to start their regular drill here at the City stadium on Sunday, Sept. 9.

The make-up of the Packer squad, which looks like the best that ever represented the blue and gold of Green Bay, is as follows:

Ends—Dilweg, Marquette O'Donnell, Minnesota.
Tackles—Cahoon, Genzaga Perry, Alabama; Ashmore, Gonzaga. Guards—Joe, Alabama; Marelli, Notre Dame; Woodin, Marquette. Bowdoin, Alabama.

Centers—Earpe, Monmouth Darling, Beloit.
Quarterbacks—Dunn, Marquette Kotal, Lawrence.

Halfbacks—Capt. Lambeau Notre Dame; Lewellen Nebraska; Baker, California; Harnden, Notre Dame; Marks, Indiana.

Fullback—Lollar Howard.
The Packers open their season at home on Sunday, Sept. 16 with the Minneapolis Marines, who will have Herb Joesting playing fullback and a number of other Gopher stars in the lineup. This is the best "opener" the Packers have had in years and the management expects the stadium will house a capacity crowd.

BROKE NECK BUT WILL PLAY FOOTBALL AGAIN

Lexington, Ky. (AP)—Ben Riley Martin refuses to allow a broken neck to interfere with his athletic career. The former Penn State high school athlete, now a student at the University of Kentucky, expects to play on the Wildcat football team this season.

During scrimmages on the freshmen team last fall he cracked two vertebrae of his neck and was forced to wear a plaster cast for two months. He played basketball during the past winter.

On the day Martin was relieved of his cast, Frank Phipps, varsity fullback, received a similar injury and survived.

Martin won eight letters during his scholastic career.

Detroit — George Golden, Negro heavyweight boxer, who defeated Charles E. Lewis, 10 to 1, Steve Nurent, Cleveland, won a foul from Soldier Dombrowski, Detroit (1).

KIM-LITTLE CHUTE PREPARED TO HOLD VALLEY LOOP LEAD

Must Beat Bays to Cinch Pennant and Then Battle Revamped Pails

Kimberly—Following Sunday's disastrous affair, the Kimberly-Little Chute baseball team is preparing for two games over the weekend which will decide the pennant chase. On Sunday, the Villagers will be the guest of the Green Sox at Green Bay. A sizzling game is in prospect as the Bayites have always been hard to crack.

On paper, this should be the deciding game, but on Monday at the Kimberly park, Marty Larer's hirings will meet the re-vamped Nee-menasha team in the last scheduled game of the season. A few weeks ago, the game would have been considered a tame affair, but after the showing of the Larson tribe against Green Bay last Sunday, it is evident that the Kimberly-Little Chute team will put forth its utmost effort to win. In addition, Nee-menasha has that two first class men, one a catcher, the other an infielder, and both handy with the stick, have been signed by the Nee-menasha club and will be in the line-up Monday. If this is true, a real fight for the top must be made by the Villagers, and the game will be one of the season's best.

The batting order for both of the weekend games which will be played by the locals will be strengthened by the return of Eddie Kotah, who was sorely missed in last Sunday's game. The hurler has not yet been selected for either of the games, but in all probability Clarence Pocan, Vander Loop and Boots Lamers will see mound duty for the Papermakers.

FONDY GRID SQUAD IN FIRST PRACTICE

Uniforms Given Out Friday and Training Grind Gets Under Way

Fond du Lac — Uniforms and instructions relative to the first football practice Saturday were given by Coach Baker to the school gridders Friday afternoon when the grid aspirants assembled for a meeting at the high school.

Although school does not open until Monday morning, Sept. 10, the squad will be out a week earlier preparing for the first conference Fox River Valley league football game with Sheboygan on Sept. 29, and Coach Baker is determined that Fond du Lac be represented this year by one of its best teams.

Saturday and all of next week will be devoted to fundamentals with some blocking thrown in for good measure. At that the boys will have to hurry right along to get in shape for the opening. It is expected that at least 45 men will be out for the meeting Friday afternoon and as many at every drill.

Among the letter-men who will be back are Marion Allen, captain-elect and tackle and the other tackle, Bill Foley. That's the most that can be said for the line. In the backfield Coach Baker will have Elmer Schmidt for a halfback and Clyde Kennedy for a quarter. Another likely candidate for the other halfback job is Gordon Foster. Gordon's position in a number of games last season and should be ready for regular duty this year.

Those coming up from the seconds and likely to make a bid for backfield positions are L. Hansen, N. Farmer, R. Dana, C. Tolzman, W. Bush, Schel Bach, Dick Woldering, Edward Mullen, Humliker and others while Wesley Higower, Warren Clark, "Red" Horr, Le Roy Sommerfeld and William Gores are sure to try out for the line. There are other likely boys who may make good besides the above named.

The Fondy mentor is going to find most of his worries in the line with Musolf gone at center and Cruck and McEsey both graduated. These three important positions will have to be filled immediately by capable men and right now Coach Baker does not know where to turn to get men who can do the jobs right.

NEW ORLEANS BOXER ONE OF 22 CHILDREN

New Orleans (AP)—Basil Galliano, New Orleans welterweight boxer, could muster a pretty good sized crowd of backers at his fights even though his family comprised his only rooting stand.

He is one of a family of 22 children, counting his parents, makes 23 eligible for ringside duty under the Galliano banner. Eighteen of 11 children are boys and four are girls.

Cardinals Softball Champions After 12 to 10 Win Over Legionnaires

Ninth Inning Rally by Veterans Falls Short of Tying Up Game

And the villain still pursues her. The heroine of our story has won her victory by a 12 to 10 score and now is free to live happily for another year at least, with the man of her choice, the city softball championship. It took her nine innings to accomplish the feat at Jones park Friday evening and despite a serious threat by the villainous legionnaires in the ninth inning, she triumphed much to the enjoyment of the spectators, who of course always pull for the heroine.

But the story of her victory is a thrilling last chapter to the book. From the end of the first inning until the eighth and ninth she gave indications of faltering before a pitiless attack and there were moments when her most earnest well wished feared for her safety.

Two runs were counted by the heroine, which as has been told in another chapter, is the Cardinal team on the interplayground softball league in the very first inning. Crane walked and scored when Lothar Graef of the villainous legionnaires suffered a lapse of memory and threw the ball to third base with neither a runner nor a baseman there. Refke also scored in the inning after he had hit safely on W. Strutz drive into the trees.

The legion evened the count as soon as its first two men had gone to bat. Starnard singled and scored on L. Smith's hit, the latter scoring on a drive by Harry Sylvester. Of four hits made by the two teams in the inning three had gone into the trees in left field indicating that the obstruction was to play an unfortunate part in the outcome of the game. It did, too, for both teams were given credit for the branches and impossible to field.

Each team scored in the second inning. A. Feavel counting for the Cards and Beyer for the legion. The winners missed a chance to score a second run in the frame when Ellis was caught at the plate. The legion counter came when Beyer walked, went to second on a balk, third when Refke mused up Bates grounder and scored on a sacrifice fly to Doc Frawley. Bates died on third base.

The Cardinals were quiet in their half of the third inning but the legion pulled ahead of a two run lead in their half of the frame. Schabo was safe on an error, and scored on Beyer's two bagger, the latter counting on Bates's two ply wallop.

The score again was tied in the first half the fourth inning and one run added to the Cardinal totals to give them the advantage again. Engel doubled, stole a base and scored on a passed ball. Feldman walked and scored on C. Stoffel's single, the latter being caught at the plate. Ellis brought in the run giving the Cards the lead when he doubled into the trees and counted on a fielder's choice of Feavel's grounder. The latter was caught trying to steal third base.

Again the count was tied for about the sixteenth time during the two games, the legion scoring one run on two hits in their half the fifth inning. Schabo counted the run on Berringer's single, Pete dying a dreadful death at third base when hit with a batted ball.

Victory was in the minds of the Red-men, however, and they immediately proceeded to score a few runs to break the tie. Successive singles by Strutz, Engel and Feldman, all into the trees, resulted in the first two of the runs in the seventh inning. Starnard scoring after a double, a stolen base and a play at first base.

Although Starnard was a miraculous one hand catch to retire the first man in the Cardinal's half of the eighth

Babson Says Both Herb And Al Are Safe For Business

Babson Park, Mass.—In his weekly interview today Mr. Babson discusses the subject of business and its relation to national politics. He feels that both Presidential candidates are safe men for business. Mr. Babson also explodes the old theory that Presidents make business prosperity or business depression. Rather it is the other way around—business conditions make or break presidents. He feels that the crop situation will be a very important factor in the coming election.

"The political situation in itself is not expected to exert any great influence on conditions. Possibly business would feel a trifle more confident in Hoover but it has no real objections to Smith. Both parties have declared for a tariff that will protect American industry and American labor. Wall Street, however, is somewhat disappointed in both candidates. Wall Street is nominally Republican but it does not care for Hoover. Wall Street likes Smith but it does not care for the entire Democratic ticket. Consequently the stock market is likely to be highly sensitive over the next few months, more from psychological factors than anything else.

MAKES PRESIDENTS "It is like putting the cart before the horse," says that the outcome of the election will determine what business will be over the next few years. Statistics clearly show that business conditions make Presidents. Presidents do not make business conditions. We have had periods of prosperity under Republican Presidents and we have had the same thing under Democratic Presidents. Also we have seen business depressions under both parties. Of the five major depressions since 1898, three have occurred under Republican administrations and two under democratic. Of the four major booms two have occurred under Republicans and two under Democrats. "Similarly the theory that years in which Presidential Elections occur are always bad for business is not borne out by history. We have seen good election years and bad ones. True the stock market frequently has a case of 'nerves' in the pre-election period. Business as a whole is influenced by fundamental factors. Of course when there have been vital economic issues at stake such as the Free Silver Campaign in 1896 and Tariff uncertainty, pre-election hesitancy has slowed business down somewhat, but this year both candidates have declared their intention of doing nothing that would interfere with the normal progress of industry and trade. Both men are, however, primarily interested in the average business man and their problems rather than in big business. Hoover is interested from a scientific point of view; while Smith is interested from a personal and instinctive point of view.

INFLUENCE ELECTION "The guide to the outcome of this year's election will be the trend of business and crops. Good fall business and a large crop harvest at fair prices would favor Hoover. Especially important are crops because of the discontent in the farming regions. History shows Presidents are chosen largely as a result of these two factors. When business is poor, employment dull and farmers dissatisfied with crop money returns, people demand a change in the ruling party. Hoover is a Republican and a Democrat. "Ideal growing weather during July has dispelled most of the anxiety over the crop outlook. With the exception of rice, rice, sugar beets and hay the harvest should exceed 1927. Cotton should yield about 10 per cent higher. Wheat, which caused much worry earlier in the year has shown one of the most remarkable recoveries in history. Corn promises a bumper crop. Of course it should be remembered that whether the farmer prospers or suffers depends on two things (1) the size of his crop and (2) the price he gets for it. The question, therefore, whether the large harvests this season will offset the weakness that has developed in prices. Altogether the prospect is for prices of some grains to work lower, nevertheless yields are so promising that the farmer's pocket books should be better than last year. This is particularly true in the North and South. The corn prospect is excellent so far, but of course much depends upon weather conditions in the next few weeks. Harvest early frost, heavy yields are anticipated.

A Dog Kennel

The size of the dog kennel, of course, will depend upon the size of the dog. The kennel must be made so it stands a little way off the ground. Ventilation also must be provided. The artist has pictured here the frame work of the kennel, showing how the joints are put together and the supporting strips put on.

Floor boards should be at least three-fourths of an inch thick for comfort. Lay them across from side to side on top of the lower frame pieces.

Sides are made of wood running from front to back, and in front and rear from side to side, as shown, with allowance made for the entrance.

The roof, as the drawing above shows, is plainly made. Where the boards meet, strips can be nailed lengthwise to make the roof shed rain. Five or six holes should be bored through the side walls just under the roof to provide ventilation. Dark green is a good color to use, since it is a serviceable shade.

OUTAGAMIE-CO IS READY TO GO TO POLLS ON TUESDAY

Predict There Will Be Record
Vote Cast in Primary Elections

Outagamie-co is set for the primary election next Tuesday.

With a record number of voters registered in every community of the county election officials and political leaders are predicting one of the heaviest votes in years and the unprecedented interest shown in a primary election coupled with the hard fight for the various offices by many candidates seems to lend truth to these predictions.

Polls in Appleton will open at 6 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 8 o'clock in the evening. This same procedure will be followed in Kaukauna and most likely in the villages of the county while in the majority of the country precincts the voting booths will open about 8 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 5:30 or 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Opening and closing time for polls in the county usually varies as the election boards there have the privilege of setting their own hours.

Voters are cautioned they cannot split their ballots. When a citizen votes he is given a number of tickets each carrying the name of the candidate seeking nomination of either the Republican, Democratic, Socialist or Prohibition party. He must tear off the ticket he desires to vote and he cannot, after voting for a Republican candidate for sheriff, for instance, turn to the Democratic ticket and vote for a candidate there for clerk of courts.

Precautions should be taken to vote early because if a mistake is made the ballot must be thrown out and not counted.

While there is an unparalleled amount of activity on the part of candidates in a mad last minute scramble for votes—most voters have made up their minds.

In the race for sheriff there are ten candidates, six on the Republican ticket and four on the Democratic ticket. They are: A. W. Jones, 704 S. Pierce; E. W. Glase, 1112 W. Prospect; Edward Grebe, Kaukauna; William Vandenberg, 1015 Fourth-st., Appleton; Fred F. Wankey, 120 S. Outagamie-st.; P. G. Schwartz, 421 W. Sixth-st., all on the Republican ticket; and Barney Hoffman, 509 S. Elm-st.; Louis J. LaRose, 118 S. Locust-st.; Edward E. Lutz, 1914 S. Oneida-st.; and Martin Verhagen, Kimberly, all on the Democratic ticket.

The next most important county race is that of district attorney with Stanley A. Staid, 131 S. Oneida-st.; Elsworth C. Smith, 609 N. Meade-st.; and Frank F. Wheeler, 832 W. Harris-st., seeking the Republican nomination; and Raymond P. Doher, 617 S. State-st. and Francis J. Rooney, 413 S. Walnut-st., seeking the Democratic nomination.

Other candidates seeking Republican nomination for county offices are: state senator from Outagamie and Shawano-cos, Anton Miller, Little Chute and Mark Catlin, Appleton; county clerk, John E. Hantschel; county treasurer, Henry Tillman; and Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, both of Appleton; register of deeds, A. G. Koch and Theodore Glaser, clerk of courts, Sydney M. Shannon and Charles Schrimpf, Appleton; coroner, Dr. H. E. Ellsworth; members of assembly, first district, Oscar J. Schmiede; member or assembly second district, Robert J. Dorech, route 4, Seymour; and John Francken, Little Chute.

Democratic nomination candidates for the following offices: State senator, Malachai Ryan, Combined Locks; county treasurer, Delia F. Schmidt, Appleton; clerk of court, A. F. Crewe, Kaukauna; coroner, Dr. William Peltom; member of assembly, John Rohan, route 4, Kaukauna.

Democratic candidates have ended the race for assemblyman from the first district, county clerk or county treasurer and there are no candidates on either ticket for county rector.

John E. Hantschel, county clerk, is the only county official who is without position either on the Republican or Democratic ticket.

SIMPLE BALLOT TO BE USED IN FALL ELECTION

Madison—(P)—The legislature's gift to the electorate, and to election officials and reporters this fall is a simplified presidential ballot only a fifth the size of one used in former years.

Instead of voting for each of the presidential electors this time, the voter will simply signify his choice for president and vice president of the United States. His single vote will be automatically cast for the 13 electors.

Under the old system, considerable confusion resulted for those tabulating the returns. Many voters had difficulty in understanding the ballot, and frequently cast votes for both Democratic and Republican and Independent electors.

There will be no chance for a popularity contest among electors this November. Each will receive just the same number of votes as the two candidates he is pledged to support.

And the voter, instead of being handed a ballot two feet square, will receive one the size of a book page.

INCOME TAX IS NO ISSUE JOHNS TELLS CROWD HERE

Zimmerman's Opponent Uses
It to Get Votes from People.
Appleton Man States

The tax issue is a false issue in the campaign for the governorship of Wisconsin and was only raised for the purpose of getting a few votes from the common people by misrepresenting the real facts to them.

Col. L. J. Johns, secretary to Governor Fred R. Zimmerman, told about 100 people who gathered at Soldiers Square at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

"The common people have found out in this campaign that the tax issue is a false one and when I speak of the common people, I speak of more than 90 per cent of the people of the state of Wisconsin, who do not pay an income tax at all. It is the other 10 per cent who are raising the issue of the people who are furnishing the music and the banners and the literature in this campaign. It would be better if they would save this money and try to do something for the 90 per cent of the people who do not pay an income tax, so they might be able to pay one," Col. Johns continued.

ATTACKS KOHLER

"You cannot run the business of the state of Wisconsin like you manufacture bath tubs, and you can't make profits running the business of the state of Wisconsin and reducing taxes through the profits that you make on its governmental functions," Col. Johns said. "The most absurd statement that has been made in this campaign is that the millionaire business candidate when he said that he was going to reduce the taxes for the people of the state by eliminating some of the commissions at Madison and by consolidation. Anybody who knows anything about affairs of the state knows that if we wipe out every commission under the dome of the capitol and destroyed the building and planted the ground with corn, you would save 2 per cent of the taxes," the speaker continued.

Setting up as an example, a comparison of power rates in the United States and Canada, Mr. Johns went on to explain that the "power trust" issue was another false issue which had merely been set up by the Progressive movement as a stall. "The people standing around here now voting for the first time will be old and gray before they will be effected by the 'power trust,'" Col. Johns said.

CAN'T ELIMINATE TAX

If the Progressive candidate for governor could be as successful in eliminating your taxes as he has been in eliminating his own then nobody need fear about income taxes provided their income didn't amount to more than eleven to $22,000 a year," Col. Johns said.

Col. Johns said that the Progressive deal about economy during the campaign, as we do every two years, but I wonder whether the candidates who are preaching economy now will be as anxious to practice it after they get into power.

Col. Johns went on to explain the plans of Governor Zimmerman in caring for the inmates of penal and charitable institutions. He explained that the governor has not used his office to build a personal political machine, and that his appointments have been impartial and without regard to race, creed or nationality.

In closing Col. Johns said: "Never before in the history of Wisconsin has the governorship been placed upon the auction block to go to the highest bidder. If the governorship of the state is to be placed on the auction block in the fall, I wonder what chance has a boy who has devoted into an Abraham Lincoln or a Theodore Roosevelt, to become governor of this great state."

This Is Season When Kids Wish School Would Burn

The blow has fallen, the die is cast, and on Tuesday, Sept. 4, the annual event which affects practically every home in Appleton—and children between the ages of 4 and 16 particularly—is destined to happen. In the eyes of those immediately affected, i. e., the above named children, there is nothing but a happy-go-lucky attitude who have forgotten their French assignments

ing under the sun except a heaven-sent deluge or some other miraculous demonstration which can stop the impending calamity in the eyes of the mothers of these said children, mothers whose hearts have been sorely tried during the months of summer recess, the opening of school is a gift from the gods which will give their weary minds at least eight hours of freedom from worry and anxiety over their offspring.

The walls are painted, the floors varnished and scrubbed, the desks polished, and the fire alarms tested—not a stone has been left unturned to create the proper psychological impression on the incoming pupils. If they dread the return to school, the hardship of it has been alleviated as much as possible by those in charge of repairs; the instructors will take care of the rest. Courses have been rearranged and remodelled, new teachers have been hired, and old ones have been attending summer schools. At 8 o'clock Tuesday morning the doors will swing open, and the halls of all school buildings in the city will again resound with the scraping and shuffling of fast moving feet, the whispering of confidential friends, and the whistling of happy-go-lucky students who have forgotten their French assignments and lost their algebra books. Gum will no longer be chewed with gusto 24 hours a day, girls with long curls again will be the mark of the mischievous minded youth, the dance cap will be revived, and with no exceptions the ears will be examined daily. Because the opening of school means the end of leisure and fun of summer vacation, it is hard to face, but once started the rest of it would be traded by few for the monotony and ennui of the summer months.

Just to make the threatened opening of school a little more realistic, Superintendent B. J. Rohan has called a general teachers' meeting in the high school auditorium at 8:30 Monday morning, and the principals of all schools will hold meetings in the various buildings at 10:30.

Members of the Riverview Country club at the meeting at the clubhouse Friday evening, authorized the purchase of the Apitz and Meyer farms on Highway 114 which runs along the east shore of Lake Winnebago as the new site for the Riverview Country club. This property which consists of about 170 acres and 1,500 feet of lake frontage is located seven miles from Appleton and Menasha.

The present property of the Riverview Country club is one of the best places which are being considered by the school board as a possible location for a new senior high school. It was said at the meeting.

William C. Webb, F. R. C. O., is Graduate of European School

William C. Webb, F. R. C. O., London, England, has been engaged to head the organ department of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Mr. Webb, an accomplished organist, brilliant artist and teacher of rare ability, will devote his entire time to teaching at the conservatory. He also will be the organist at the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Webb is a graduate of the Guild Hall school of Music, London, a noted European school, and has studied organ, piano and theory under some of the foremost musicians of England. He has been a teacher of organ, piano and composition for over 30 years, and has prepared many pupils for prize contests. Several of his pupils have passed the examination for the F. R. C. O. degree, an English degree similar to the American A. G. O. He comes to Appleton with the fine testimonials of many noted musicians of England, including one from the organist of King George of England and the organist of St. Paul cathedral, London.

PRESIDENT HAPPY TO GET MEMENTO OF VISIT IN WISCONSIN

Appleton Delegation Pleased
With Warmth of Mr. Coolidge's Reception

"The president played ball with us in line shape," said C. C. Nelson of the Midwest Publishing company in discussing the presentation of the Coolidge number of the Wisconsin Magazine to President Coolidge at the summer White House Friday morning. "Contrary to the general opinion that the President is a very sober and somewhat indifferent man," said Mr. Nelson, "we found him very genial, and he certainly made us feel at ease. He greeted us with his friendly smile, and though we had been cautioned against long interviews by his secretary, we almost forgot the admonition in the warmth of the President's attitude toward us. We were like a bunch of happy kids."

Dr. C. Wesley Boag of Green Bay, who presented the handsomely bound copy of the Wisconsin Magazine to the President in the absence of George A. Whiting, who could not make the trip, said in his presentation speech, "We have the pleasure of representing the Wisconsin magazine and of presenting to you a copy known as the Presidential issue. The magazine is a monthly publication of which the citizens of the state are very proud, and this issue is presented to you because of your stay in our midst."

President Coolidge expressed his appreciation of the 166 mile trip by airplane, and the president's list of the sponsors of the trip, and stated that the trip was worthy of recommendation and remembrance by the citizens of the state. Later Dr. Ingler talked with the president's secretary, Everett Sanders, whom he knew personally. Mr. Sanders was a student at Indiana university at the time Dr. Ingler was taking his Masters degree from that university.

President Coolidge was received by Fred F. Wankey, who was one of the sponsors of the trip, and stated that the trip was worthy of recommendation and remembrance by the citizens of the state. Later Dr. Ingler talked with the president's secretary, Everett Sanders, whom he knew personally. Mr. Sanders was a student at Indiana university at the time Dr. Ingler was taking his Masters degree from that university.

Members of the Riverview Country club at the meeting at the clubhouse Friday evening, authorized the purchase of the Apitz and Meyer farms on Highway 114 which runs along the east shore of Lake Winnebago as the new site for the Riverview Country club. This property which consists of about 170 acres and 1,500 feet of lake frontage is located seven miles from Appleton and Menasha.

The present property of the Riverview Country club is one of the best places which are being considered by the school board as a possible location for a new senior high school. It was said at the meeting.

William C. Webb, F. R. C. O., is Graduate of European School

William C. Webb, F. R. C. O., London, England, has been engaged to head the organ department of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Do you KNOW what "ARTERIAL" Stands for

STATISTICS compiled by nationally recognized safety agencies show that hundreds of persons were either killed or injured last year for failure to observe the law of the "ARTERIAL."

Failure to come to a complete STOP when so cautioned is today causing innumerable mishaps on the country road and on the city street Thoughtless motorists pay the penalty each day and why? Just because THEY TAKE TOO MUCH FOR GRANTED ...

A "Thru street" or "Arterial" highway means that the motorist traveling on this street has the "Right o' Way" at all times The motorist, with this thought in mind, usually travels rapidly He expects that the other motorist, waiting at the "Arterial" sign, will permit him to drive by without interruption. That is his legal right it is your legal right when you are traveling on the "Thru Street"

But, on the other hand, when you come to a "stop" at the "Arterial" continue that "stop" until the way is clear ahead DON'T JUST STOP AND THOUGHTLESSLY GO AHEAD TO CRASH INTO THE FELLOW DRIVING ALONG LICKETY-SPLIT WHO DOESN'T EXPECT YOU. STOP LOOK AND PROCEED SLOWLY AND CAREFULLY AT AN "ARTERIAL" OR "THRU STREET."

AND ABOVE ALL REMEMBER THE WORD "ARTERIAL" or the words "THRU STREET" bear the same significance whether they are encountered on the country road, the city street or alley. EXERCISE THE SAME CAUTION OUT IN THE COUNTRY AS YOU DO IN THE CITY.

Play Safe!

BE CAREFUL!
